

Table of contents

Introduction	7
--------------	---

PART I ANALYTICAL FRAMEWORK

1	The shift from master planning to strategic planning Rod Burgess & Marisa Carmona	12
	- The rise of master planning	13
	- The rise of strategic planning and neoliberal development strategies	20
	- The basic element of strategic planning: large urban projects	26
	- The objectives and potential benefits of large urban projects	30
	- The role of the state and the market in large urban projects	31
	- The role of public regulation in large urban projects	32
	- Instruments for the capture of surplus values in large urban projects	33
	- Participation and actors in the management and implementation of large urban projects	38
	- Conclusions	39
2	Survey: Strategic projects and large urban projects in the 30 cities	43
3	History and tradition in the Dutch city	51
	- The new old Dutch town Leen van Duin	51
	- A critical position towards the Dutch approach Carel Weeber	57
	- Urban transformations, infrastructure and tradition Henco Bekkering	61

PART II 30 CITIES

Beijing Qu Lei	73
Bilbao Esteban Rodriguez Soto & Marisa Carmona	89
Bogotá Elsa Mahecha & Nora Ariztizabal	107
Buenos Aires Alvaro Arrese & Marisa Carmona	121
Caracas Marco Negrón	137
Córdoba Ana Falú & Cecilia Marengo	153
Daegu Bokyong Seo	171
Fukuoka Etsuko Mori	183
Glasgow Catelijne Elissen	195
Hsinchu Chi-hsuan Peng	211
La Plata María Bazán López	227
Liverpool Catelijne Elissen	243
Lusaka Paul Makasa	255
Mexico City Alejandro Suarez	271
Montevideo Jorge di Paula & Maria del Huerto Delgado	287
Ningbo Xiong Xi	303
Panama City Alvaro Uribe	315
Paris Annelies Poot & Paul Stouten	331
Pretoria Marinda Schoonraad	349
Rio de Janeiro Pedro Jorgensen	369
Rotterdam Gerard Wigmans	385
San Salvador Marcela Zacapa	403

Santiago Marisa Carmona	413
São Paulo Csaba Deák	431
Shanghai Yawei Chen & Hao Hu	445
Singapore Hao Hu	459
Taipei Chiang che-sheng	473
The Hague Paul Stouten	485
Tokyo Keiso Okamoto	497
Valparaíso Marisa Carmona & Eliana Muga	513

PART III CONCLUSIONS

1	A final appraisal	529
	- The formation of metropolitan regions and large conurbations	533
	- City competitiveness and the improvement of technical infrastructure	536
	- The shift from an industrial to a service society	538
	- Conclusions	539
	- Bibliography	540
2	Survey: Strategic issues and urban strategies	541

APPENDICES

Country data	556
List of acronyms	558
List of authors	560